Identify the reason for reading

I identify if I am reading to learn, to understand, to inform or for pleasure.

Look at titles and make an overview

I use the titles/subtitles, and make an overview to help me understand.

Use what I know already

I refer to my previous knowledge and personal experiences to help me understand.

Interpret the message

I use visual clues like images, illustrations and the text's genre to help me understand the message.

Processing information

I identify familiar/unfamiliar words and take note of words to check later. I identify key ideas and make links to my personal experiences and thoughts.

Check understanding

I paraphrase the message, I ask questions to clarify/for more information, and I focus on the finer details when I read for a second time.

React to the message

I give my point of view and express my ideas, opinions and feelings.

Reflect on the message

I reflect on my understanding and use of strategies. I set future goals to help me improve.

Read more

I look for opportunities to give myself the chance to read more texts in the target language.
